Create a repository

Head over to GitHub and create a new repository named username.github.io, where username is your username (or organization name) on GitHub.

If the first part of the repository doesn't exactly match your username, it won't work, so make sure to get it right.

Create a new repository

A repository contains all project files, including the revision history.

Owner / Repository name

Great repository names are short and memorable. Need inspiration? How about fictional-winner?

Description (optional)

- Public
Anyone can see this repository. You choose who can commit.
- Private
You choose who can see and commit to this repository.

- Initialize this repository with a README
This will let you immediately clone the repository to your computer. Skip this step if you're importing an existing repository.

Add .gitignore: None

Add a license: None

The screenshot shows the GitHub homepage. At the top is a dark navigation bar with the GitHub logo, a search bar, and links for Pull requests, Issues, Marketplace, and Explore. On the left, there are sections for 'Create your first project' and 'Working with a team?'. The 'Create your first project' section has a green 'Create repository' button highlighted with a red box and a purple mouse cursor pointing to it. The main content area features a large light blue and green gradient box with the text 'Learn Git and GitHub without any code!' and a green 'Read the guide' button. On the right, there is a dark notification banner for 'Join us for GitHub Satellite on May 6' and a section titled 'Explore repositories' listing repositories like 'bikeshaving/crank', 'Vazkii/Botania', and 'oppia/oppia'.
